Association of Southeast Asian Nations - Biotechnology	The US Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) Roundtable on Agricultural Biotechnology: On April 4-5, representatives from the US and the ASEAN gathered in Bangkok, Thailand to engage on issues of mutual interest pertaining to agricultural biotechnology and economic development. This seminar enabled delegations to examine policies, capacities, and relevant options to encourage the acceptance and development of agricultural biotechnology. The seminar emphasized dialogue among the delegations on their respective positions, clarified goals, and identified potential areas of cooperation. The meeting supported the development of policies, regulations, and technical capacities necessary for ASEAN to benefit from biotechnology and facilitate agricultural trade. It also provided models of inter-ministerial cooperation initiatives and facilitated approaches for public outreach and public participation in agricultural biotechnology policy development.
