Airport Modernization - Air Transport System Improvement Plan	The United States Trade and Development Agency (USTDA) is providing a grant to the Moroccan Office National des Aéroports (ONDA) to fund the cost of technical assistance (TA) related to the development of an Air Transport System Improvement Plan in Morocco. The TA would assist in the creation of an integrated system plan and business plan for the development, modernization, and expansion of four major airports in Morocco. An advisory group consisting of several private enterprises submitted this proposal to USTDA in collaboration with ONDA. This project is expected to build the capacity of Morocco to manage the strong growth projected in its tourism sector by improving and expanding the Moroccan air transport system. American Berries Pilot Project in Loukkos Region	The main goal of this pilot project is to diversify agricultural productivity in the region of Loukkos by introducing American berries. So far, new varieties of blueberries, blackberries and raspberries (9,000 plants) were introduced. The results proved to be excellent and the varieties well adapted to the Moroccan climate. As a result of these successful trials, other farmers, especially from small- and medium-sized operations, have expressed their interest.	Trade-Related Agriculture		51,601

Commercial Court Judges Training in Trademark Opposition Process	Improving the Business Environment program promotes mandatory continuing legal education for judges and lawyers, including trademark opposition. It builds on the work done by the previous US Agency for International Development (USAID) project on modernization of commercial laws and of the judiciary (2002-2005), which helped draft the legislative amendments, which entered into force on January 1, 2006. The program will also be cooperating with targeted training by the United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO) regarding the implementation of the system for both judges and customs officials. Increased Regulatory Transparency - Morocco	Transparency has emerged as the best way to reduce unnecessary red tape, promoting productive investment and employment creation. Transparency also matters increasingly in international trade agreements, both multilateral in the context of the WTO and bilateral treaties. Morocco has committed itself to a path toward transparency with respect to its obligations under the WTO and its bilateral trade agreements. Transparency forms a separate chapter of the US-Morocco Free Trade Agreement. As part of its support for efforts by Morocco to promote productive investment and employment creation, as well as the implementation of the free trade agreement with the US, the US Agency for International Development (USAID) mission to Morocco organized a workshop on regulatory transparency. The workshop, co-sponsored by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Cooperation, was held on 7 July 2006.	Governance/Transparency and Inter-Agency Coordination	37,001
